

Start your battlefield tour...

Appomattox Court House, Virginia.

with this softcover guide.

Beautifully organized, the guide groups battlefields by state. Park addresses and phone numbers, as well as listings of historic inns, are included.

The concise but compelling stories and beautiful photographs offer enough variety to whet the appetite of the entire family! And hard facts are presented in the at-a-glance format you see below.

FORT PULASKI NATIONAL MONUMENT

Battle Dates April 10-11, 1862

Combat Strength U.S.: 1,100; C.S.: 385

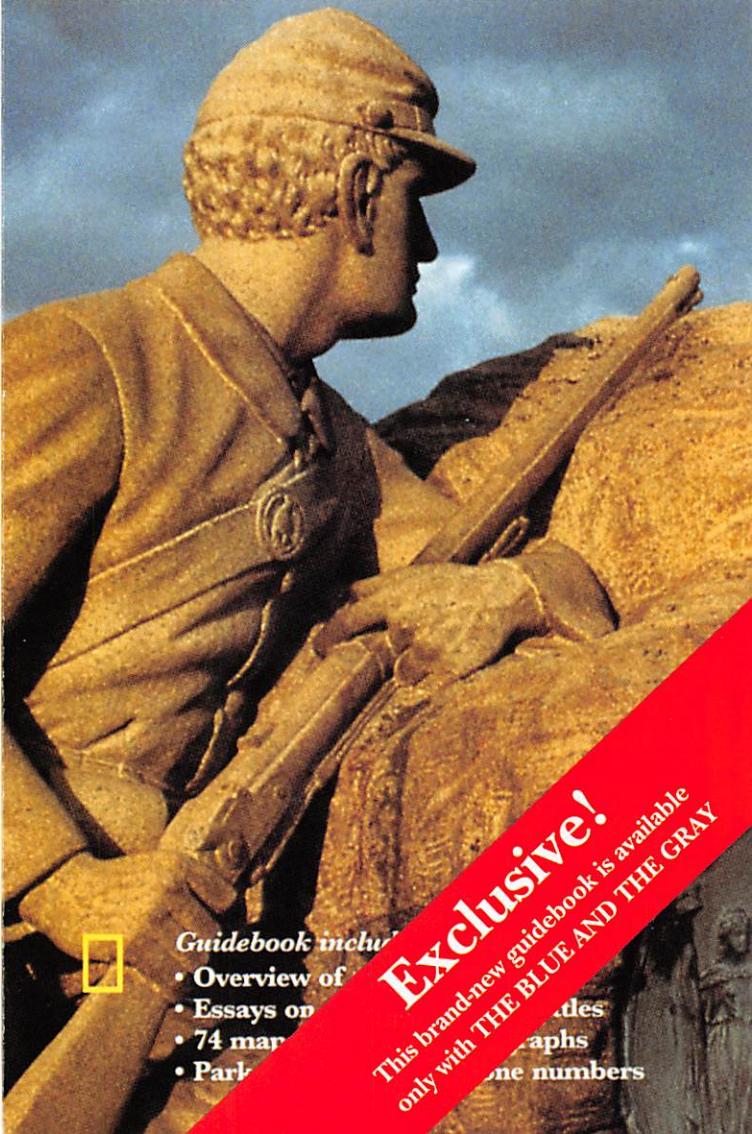

Casualties U.S.: 1; C.S. killed: 1; C.S. captured: 384

Commanders U.S.: Maj. Gen. David Hunter, (Acting) Brig. Gen. Quincy A. Gillmore
C.S.: Col. Charles H. Olmstead

PARK HEADQUARTERS: Fort Pulaski National Monument
P.O. Box 30757, Savannah, Georgia 31410.
Telephone (912)786-5787

Copyright © 1991 National Geographic Society

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC GUIDE TO THE CIVIL WAR National Battlefield Parks

Guidebook includes:

- Overview of the war
- Essays on key figures
- 74 maps and diagrams
- Park addresses and phone numbers

Exclusive!

This brand-new guidebook is available
only with THE BLUE AND THE GRAY

National Geographic Society, Washington, D.C. 20036

Plan a rewarding visit to the past with this practical battlefield guide!

Stunning new you-are-there photographs help you know what to look for...

Relive the action from Fort Sumter to Appomattox with this 160-page guidebook.

37 New Maps

Brand-new easy-to-read maps help you plan your tour with a soldier's-eye view of the military engagements.

38 Descriptive Photographs

Present-day pictures of the battlefields evoke a sense of the past and show you the terrain.

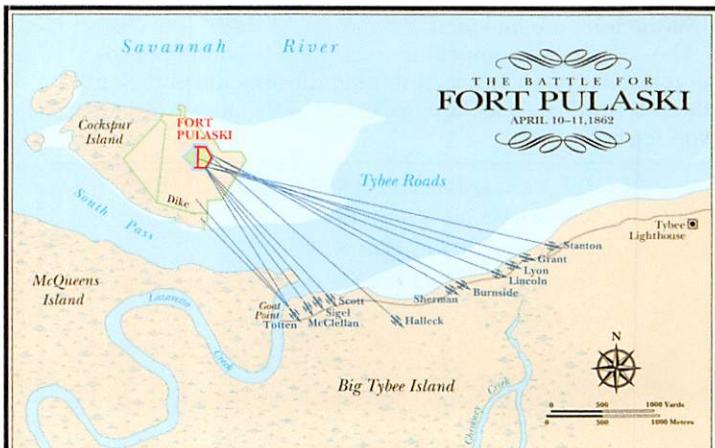

22 Informative Battlefield Essays

Battlefield by battlefield—across 16 states—you'll read revealing essays on the strategy, tactics, and outcome of each conflict. The facts are so well presented, you'll find them fascinating even if you never leave home!

Mist on the hallowed ground at Gettysburg National Military Park, Pennsylvania.

Meticulously designed maps clarify your understanding of what happened.

Map of Fort Pulaski, Georgia, showing convergence of fire from Union batteries on fort.